Amref Health Africa: Training midwives and nurses to improve healthcare for women and children in Uganda

Impact: Contribute to improved health of women and children in Uganda Outcome: 15 health facilities have improved capacity to better deliver quality maternal and child health care services OUTPUT 2 OUTPUT 1 3 training institutions have improved capacity to deliver 300 health workers are trained in BEmONC, Nursing Process CPD courses for health workers' professional competence and Customer Care and receive mentorship by tutors INPUTS 1) Revision of CPD curriculum, production of course curricula 2) Meetings with mentors/tutors, training of mentors/tutors on LMS and supporting learners, supportive supervision to the 3 nursing schools, quarterly joint stakeholder meetings, quarterly supportive supervision to the trained health workers BARRIERS: Lack of flexible and affordable opportunities for ASSUMPTIONS: Health workers are willing to enrol in the CPD course to increase their knowledge, raise their technical capacity and improve training to up-skill nurses and midwives their performance; existence of infrastructure and resources for e-learning; mentors and tutors have sufficient skills to support learners and troubleshoot ICT issues and are willing to engage in this. PROBLEM: Lack of capacity in Uganda's education system to provide accessible training to up-skill nurses and midwives, meaning mothers and children cannot access quality health care